Roberto Lindstrom May Be Name of Bergman's Baby

Lawyer Says Under Law of Italy Husband's Nationality, Name May Be Taken

Rome, Feb. 4 (AP)—Roberto Lindstrom may be the name Ingrid Bergman gives her baby son. "It looks as though the baby's name will be Lindstrom," said Gino Sotis, lawyer for Italian Film Director Roberto Rossellini. The 34-year-old Swedish film actress plans to marry Rossellini when she gets a Mexican divorce from Dr. Peter Lindstrom of Hollywood.

Dr. Pier Luigi Guidotti, who attended the seven-pound, 14 ounce baby's entry into the world Thursday night, said "tentatively the baby's name is Roberto, that probably will be it."

Sotis explained that under Italian law the baby may take the last name and nationality of Miss Bergman's Hollywood husband because the birth came before granting of her divorce, now expected sometime next week in Mexico.

Sotis said he had not yet checked the Italian law for loopholes, but that the baby would take the American nationality of his legal father, Dr. Lindstrom.

The lawyer added the child, because he was born in Italy, could apply for Italian citizenship at the age of 16.

10 Days for Record
Miss Bergman has ten days in which to register the chubby infant in Rome's vital statistics records.

The baby, meanwhile, does not get but "cat eat cat."

That's about all that fat little piggy does," said Gino Sotis, Miss Bergman's private nurse at the Margherita Clinic here.

Rossellini has been at Ingrid's bedside almost constantly since the child was born. Reportedly he kept his first night at the hospital.

Both Miss Bergman and Rossellini are happy and happily awaited the birth of the child, said Mr. Sotis. "Both were very delighted it was a boy. They seem very much in love and very happy."

The doctor said Ingrid and Rossellini would be married "immediately" after the granting of her Mexican divorce.

In Hollywood the first shock of the news had worn off slightly but one talked about anything else. They were even speculating on whether Miss Bergman could get back into the United States without red tape, since it was not known whether she had renewed her residency permit dated to Jan. 25, 1949.

The only people in Hollywood who weren't saying anything were the two lawyers representing her. One of them, a spokesman for Dr. Lindstrom, said the two attorneys, Howard L. Shepherd, Jr., and Walter J. Shepherd, Jr., had conferred and decided they declined to comment.

Plans were going ahead in RKO studios to release the Ingrid-Bergman picture "An Affair to Remember" on Feb. 15. Officials announced on Page 10, Col. 2.

Bradley Says Morale Of U. S. Troops Good

Kyoto, Japan, Feb. 4 (AP)—Gen. Omar Bradley said tonight the morale is good among American troops he has seen so far in Japan.

The chairman of the joint chiefs of staff made this observation after he declared all branches of the U. S. armed forces—land, sea and air—must stay in "fighting trim" to prevent war.

Bradley said the joint chiefs' knowledge of America's position in Japan is being supplemented by inspections and talks with officers here.

"We pick up a word here and a word there," he commented. The general said the trip to Japan is unofficial.

Paight Trial Has Week-End Recess

Both Sides Prepare Final Arguments; Case Will Resume Tuesday

Bridgeport, Conn., Feb. 4 (AP)—Carol Ann Paight's mercy murder trial was in week-end recess today while both sides readied their final arguments.

The case, first of its kind in Connecticut history, may reach an all-parent jury of nine women and three men before next Tuesday night.

The recess ends Tuesday morning when the prosecution opens its summation, highlighting for the jury the points brought out in evidence. The defense follows with its final arguments.

Then the state makes its closing statement.

Superior Judge John A. Cornwell's charge to the jury is expected to take about an hour. He is required to instruct the jury on the legal meaning of temporary insanity, the point on which the entire second degree murder case turns.

Carol, 21-year-old blonde college girl, shot her father to death September 23 after she learned he had committed adultery.

Sharp Criticism Is Leveled at Proposals To Force Relief Funds in Form of Vouchers

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 4 (AP)—An influential Republican legislator today sharply criticized proposals that would force local welfare officials to distribute relief funds in the form of vouchers instead of cash.

Assemblyman Harold S. Osterstag, chairman of the joint Legislative Committee on Interstate Cooperation, said the proposals, aimed at cutting down alleged fraud by relief clients, were a "step in the wrong direction."

He said the mandatory voucher system was "unworkable" and would increase welfare administrative costs.

A subcommittee of the interstate cooperation group has been studying welfare problems for several years. Osterstag said it would propose later this year legislation to crack down on improper use of relief funds.

Support Is Given Move About Tax

Legislators Would Slash Excise Levies Much As Billion Instead of $665,000,000

May Write Ticket

Republican Backing Is Assured in Move for Abolition

Washington, Feb. 4 (AP)—Proposals to cut excise taxes as much as $1,000,000,000 instead of the $665,000,000 recommended by the administration drew expanding Democratic support in the House today.

Some of President Truman's constant followers joined in a drive for more and deeper reduction in the wartime levies.

They included some Democratic members of the tax-writing Ways and Means Committee and a quick check indicated that the bloc, with Republicans expected to vote solidly for larger cuts, may take control and write their own ticket.

They proposed to add $325,000,000 or more to the proposed special reductions by cutting the taxes on such things as theatre tickets, local telephone bills, and cameras and other photographic equipment.

In outlining the administration's tax program in detail yesterday, Secretary of the Treasury Snyder called for higher taxes on corporations, estates and gifts, and the plugging of what he called loopholes in the present tax law.

Snyder figures these increases would offset the proposed excise reductions and bring in net additional revenue of about $1,000,000,000.

The lawmakers showed more immediate interest in the proposed excise cuts than they did in the tax-boosting features of the administration's program.

The Ways and Means Committee has 15 Democratic and 10 Republican members. Twelve of the Democrats came out firmly today for more reductions.

One of these three, Rep. Young (D-Ohio), said he was disappointed by the restrictions proposed on the excise taxes reductions.

"I think the administration is on very tenuous ground when it says that before we remove these atrocious and indefensible taxes we must first increase revenue somewhere else," he said.

Young added that he would fight for cuts in the taxes on photographic equipment and on theatre admissions, which he called "the recreation of the little fellow."

Rep. King (D-Calif.) said he too would vote to reduce the taxes on admissions and photographic equipment, and Rep. Carroll (D-Colo.) said: "I'd like to cut the whole thing."

Two other committee Democrats, Reps. Dingell of Michigan and E. A. Tamm of Pennsylvania, also indicated they are interested in broader excise reductions.

Some members suggested a cut from the present 20 per cent to 10 per cent in the levy on admissions. This would reduce revenue by about $200,000,000. Some said the tax on photographic equipment should be cut from the present 25 per cent at the manufacturers' level to 10 or 15 per cent. This would reduce revenues by over $125,000,000.

Use Bomb on House
Groversville, N. Y., Feb. 4 (AP)—Footprints in the snow gave police a possible clue today to the source of a home-made bomb that exploded on the porch of a farmhouse here.

The bomb, which blew a hole in the side of the house, was found in a ditch near the house. The incident followed a daytime clash between police and strikers picketing in townships in this glove-producing area.

Isolation to crack down on improper use of relief funds.

Osterstag said there was "a lot of agitation" this year for the voucher system. He said most of it came from upstate agricultural areas.

Under a voucher system, persons on home relief would be given certificates to trade for food, coal and other provisions from specified merchants.

Under present state law, relief clients must be given cash unless "it is impractical" to do so. In such cases, vouchers may be used.

Osterstag said that under State Social Welfare Department regulations, local welfare officials must prove that a person is incapable of handling cash before vouchers are issued.

Two upstate Republicans, Senator Henry A. Wise of Watertown and Assemblyman Henry D. Conville of Central Square, have introduced bills to make the use of vouchers mandatory.

Asked about the measures, Osterstag told a reporter: "I doubt the wisdom of mandatory vouchers because such a system entails cumbersome methods of administering relief and tends to increase the costs of relief in that the receipt is not given at the discretion of the welfare official but is purchased or use of that money," he added.

"Abuses have been found in which storekeepers and others took advantage of people by giving them inferior goods, or in which improper arrangements were worked out between welfare officials and business concerns."

He stressed, however, that he believed "there is room for tightening up on the use of cash."

Osterstag said local officials should use "greater discretion" (Continued on Page 9, Col. 2)

Scientist Arrested

A top British atomic scientist, Claus Fuchs (above), has been arrested in London as the result of F.B.I. digging into leaks of A-bomb secrets to Russia. London dispatches said Fuchs was charged with two violations of the Official Secrets Act in Bow Street Court. This photo of Fuchs was made available by F.B.I. headquarters in Washington.

Northwest Storm Stalls Cars, Leaves Scores Stranded

Motorists, Ranchers Await Help After Blizzard Sweeps Over Oregon

(By The Associated Press)

Rescue crews battled heavy snow drifts in Oregon and Montana today attempting to rescue scores of stranded motorists and marooned farmers and ranchers.

More than 50 persons were stalled for several hours in their cars and in a bus on the Columbia river highway after a blizzard swept over the Columbia river gorge in Oregon last night.

Police and highway crews early today rescued about 40 of the snow-trapped travelers near Bonanza Dam, east of Portland. The last to reach safety were taken into Hood River by a Union Pacific streamliner. The train stopped along the highway, which parallels the train tracks, to pick up travelers from the cars half buried in drifts. The highway remained closed today.

Skipped planes, flew over isolated farms and ranches in northern Montana and pilots mapped plans to speed medical supplies, food and fuel to the marooned residents. A critical food shortage was reported in some parts of the Blackfoot Indian reservation east of Glacier National Park.

The storm which whipped over Oregon and Washington brought snow, sleet and freezing rains. Winds reached a velocity of 65 miles an hour in some areas.

Rain also fell in northern California and in southern and eastern Texas. But elsewhere across the country, generally fair weather was reported. There was no snow.

Red Sabotage Attack Reported Spreading Over Western Europe

Lawmakers Ask Rigid Measures as Secrecy Assurance

Hoover Quoted as Saying Fuchs Was Planted as Paid Spy for Russia

Washington, Feb. 4 (AP)—Alarmed lawmakers demanded rigid new secrecy measures today after receiving reports that a top British scientist had passed hydrogen bomb—as well as atomic—secrets to Russia.

With the biggest atomic spy case of all still unfolding there were these developments:

1. Lieut. Gen. Leslie Groves, retired wartime head of the atomic energy project, faced questioning by the Senate-House Atomic Committee about the activities of Klaus Fuchs, the 38-year-old accused British scientist.

2. F.B.I. Director J. Edgar Hoover was quoted by senators as having reported to them that Fuchs had been planted as a paid Russian spy in the British atomic set-up and had given the inner-most atomic secrets, and some information about the hydrogen bomb, to Moscow.

3. A group of senators demanded that Great Britain—and all other countries—be cut off from any information about H-bomb developments.

4. Senator Connally (D-Tex.), chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee and a member of the Senate-House atomic group, forecast a drastic tightening of atomic security regulations at home and abroad.

The Senate-House committee may recommend such an overhaul of security rules after hearing Groves.

Groves was called upon to explain how Fuchs, who headed the (Continued on Page 9, Col. 4)

Aim Is to Smash Atlantic Pact, Aid by Marshall Plan, Sources Declare; France Feeling Brunt of Drive

Paris, Feb. 4 (AP)—A Communist sabotage attack, aimed at smashing the Atlantic Pact and Marshall aid, is spreading over western Europe.

For the moment the attacks seem confined largely to France. But American sources here think the biggest drive ultimately will come in Italy.

In France there are two immediate objectives:

1. To prevent unloading of American military equipment coming to Europe under the military aid program.

2. To cripple France's effort to save Indochina from the Communists. Forces fighting the French-sponsored regime there of former Emperor Bao Dai are viewed by the French government as the spearhead of a Red thrust through southeast Asia.

The Communist operation plan here in France is clearcut. A real grievance held by a local group is linked to a Cominform political aim. And the Communists have real "workers' grievances" to exploit.

Wages have lagged behind prices. Months ago the government promised to lift the freeze order on wages and permit some collective bargaining. The freeze is still on.

The Communists have had no trouble getting Socialist labor unions to go along with demands for wage bonuses and higher pay. Often the Reds have maneuvered the unions into demonstrations against low wages, American aid, and the Indo-China affair, all in a bundle.

Communist trades blame Marshall Aid for low French wages and European unemployment. Work stoppages are real and damaging. The Communist official newspaper, L'Humanite, in one edition listed more than a score of them in the Paris area.

Communist leaders well known in France have been sent as shock troop organizers to the main centers of the country. Dock workers at Marseille, always a trouble spot, refused to load ships carrying arms and men to Indochina. Supplies for the troops in the Far East often arrive sabotaged.

Sternest Kind of Action
Responsible sources in Paris say the Red attacks will be met by the sternest kind of government action. Quick arrest of agitators in a recent Communist-inspired (Continued on Page 10, Col. 3)

Knaust Strike Ends at Hudson

Hudson, N. Y., Feb. 4 (AP)—A strike at the Knaust Brothers mushroom canning plant here has been settled.

A group of workers—the number has been in dispute—walked out Tuesday, claiming two employees had been fired for union activity.

The C.I.O. Textile Workers Union announced last night the company had agreed to reinstate one of the workers. The other case will be left to a state mediator. James O'Shea, union business agent, said.

The company has claimed that one of the workers was discharged for insubordination and the other was laid off for two weeks because of "her conduct on the job."

O'Shea, who placed the number of strikers at 130 of the plant's 180 employees, said all would return to work Monday.

The company had said that 121 workers remained on the job. The agreement was reached at a (Continued on Page 10, Col. 5)

Government Attorneys Say They Have Leads; 4 Indicted

New York, Feb. 4 (AP)—Government attorneys believed today they held threads leading to a triple-threat counterfeit gang that dealt in phony money, stamps and travelers checks.

The latest federal moves in the case—or cases—came yesterday when four men were indicted for conspiring to sell counterfeit money, and the $50,000 bond of Alfred Tauriano, believed to be a check gang king-pin, was forfeited.

In another move, the F.B.I. grabbed Alexander Patrick King, 40, in connection with the check gang. He was held in lieu of $100,000 bail.

U. S. Commissioner Edward W. McDonald said the high bail was justified because the ring had been dealing in "hundreds of thousands" of dollars.

The check gang alone is believed least $200,000 in bogus money, (Continued on Page 10, Col. 5)

Two Men Face Morals Accusations

Ten Burglaries, About 30 Petit Larcenies Are Cleared, Sheriff's Aid Says

Garage Included

B.P.W. Building, Post Office at Woodstock Were Looted

A county-wide sweep of burglaries has been called by the result of a three-week investigation by the Ulster County Sheriff's Office and Kingston Police Department, county law enforcement officials claimed today.

Included in the reported burglaries listed by authorities as solved was one in the Kingston Board of Public Works garage on East O'Reilly street on January 4 of this year and one in the U. S. Post Office at Woodstock last summer.

The investigation has noted the arrest of eight men and one woman on burglary charges and two men on morals charges, authorities said.

There were two separate "gangs" but investigation of one reported burglary developed leads which put detectives on the trail of both groups, county investigators Clayton Vredenburg of the sheriff's office said. In all, solution of more than 100 clear-cut and between 25 and 30 petit larcenies was claimed by the authorities.

Those who have been arrested allegedly as the result of this investigation were booked at the sheriff's office as:

George J. Schryver, Jr., 19, of 49 St. James street, charged with burglary, third degree, and unlawful entry.

Wilson Van Vliet, 28, of 79 Chambers street, charged with burglary, third degree, and unlawful entry.

Betty Rose Van Vliet, 22, of 79 Chambers street, charged with burglary, third degree.

Eugene Francis Smith, 24, of 68 Murray street, charged with burglary, third degree.

Alfred Bell, 18, of 17 Broadway, charged with burglary, third degree.

John Slater, 21, of RFD 3, Kingston, charged with burglary, third degree.

Milton Wynn, Jr., 20, RFD 4, Kingston, charged with burglary, third degree.

Vincent J. Stokes, 23, of 61 Cedar street, arrested on a morals charge.

Elmo V. Salmi, 20, of Rifton, on a morals charge.

Aided in Investigation
Participating in the investigation were Sheriff George C. Smith, Identification Officer Leonard Belmont and Vredenburg, of the sheriff's office. Chief Raymond Van Buren and Detective Clarence Brophy of the Kingston Police Department, Postal Inspectors Martin O. Ogden and Robert H. Dady, and Chief A. W. Reiter of the Saugerties police.

Kingston police revealed today that the Board of Public Works garage adjoining the police garage on East O'Reilly street was entered through a window on January 3 and approximately $73 taken. No arrests were made on this burglary, but the investigating authorities claimed its solution with arrests on other charges.

The investigation started at Kingston on June 14 and a sum of money taken. The amount has not been definitely established, he said. Three men were arrested in connection with this burglary and are awaiting grand jury action of third degree burglary charges, Vredenburg and Belmont said.

Phyllis Frankel Praised Following Baltimore Recital

Mrs. Phyllis Frankel, lyric soprano who formerly resided in this city, recently received the plaudits of Helen A. F. Penningman writing in the Baltimore Press, following her first full-length recital at Cadea Hall.

Mrs. Frankel, the former Miss Phyllis Levy, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Levy and niece of Mr. and Mrs. Harris Brown. She formerly sang at Temple Emanuel.

The writer, reporting on the recital and to this say about Mrs. Frankel:

"It is scarcely believable that anyone could mature so greatly in the course of just one short year. For it is barely 12 months since Mrs. Frankel appeared at the Lyric as soloist with the Baltimore Symphony."

"And during that time the young matron has ripened very perceptibly, not only in technique and interpretive control but one senses a mental and spiritual growth as well."

"This was first evident in the 'Mozart' of Gluck's Mozart, and emphasized in the succeeding warmth of Godard's 'Le Tasse.' Her mezzo voice is especially rich in quality, a proven in the delicate poetry of 'La Pluie' of Georges, in the 'Mondnacht' of Schumann and once more in the minor charms of the 'Seminole Lullaby.'"

"The Baltimore reporter concluded with the capacity audience was most responsive, and would not be content without several encores while also saying it with flowers in abundance."

Reading Specialist Will Speak in City

Dr. Earl A. Taylor, director of the Washington Square Reading Center, New York, will speak at the M.J.M. School March 4, under the sponsorship of the Kingston Teachers' Federation.

The Washington Square Reading Center demonstrates a new type of education based on the theory that reading difficulties and school retardation are just symptoms of functional impediments which prohibit the individual from making satisfactory responses to classroom instruction. Educational instruments now make it possible to detect and eliminate these deficiencies.

Teachers and other local people who have visited the center and observed the work being done there have been greatly impressed. The Federation feels privileged in being able to bring this noted reading specialist to Kingston.

HALF-CENTURY HIGHLIGHTS

DOUBLE WEDDING at the turn of the century, and a double golden wedding anniversary at midcentury was the unique experience of these two couples of North Kingston, O. They are Herbert and Harry Cartwright, brothers, who married Jennie and Ethel Baird, sisters. The picture is a study in wedding costumes of 50 years ago. For the men, stiff wing collars and white ties, black two-button cutaways, and at the vest of each a heavy gold watch chain and fob. For the brides, white frilly gowns, floor-length, tightly cinched at the waistline, with long sleeves and many ruffles, white high-topped shoes with bows. Brides are demure, as is the custom with brides, and the bridegrooms look slightly frightened, even as bridegrooms today.

Gems of the Talmud

by DR. PHILIP H. WEINBERG, RABBI

(The following quotations are taken from the Talmud, the commentary on the Old Testament.)

"The practice of benevolence is among the things to which no limit is set. It is among the things of which the fruit are enjoyed in this world, while the principal remains for the World to Come." (Pirkei I, 1)

"In three particulars is benevolence superior to charity; charity is the bestowing only of money, but benevolence can be extended by personal service as well. Charity can be given only to the poor, but benevolence to the rich, as well. Charity is confined to the living only, but benevolence may extend to both the dead and the living." (Sukkoth 49b)

"Whoever is compassionate toward his fellow creature, compassion is shown him from Heaven." (Shabbos 151b)

"He who is good towards Heaven and his fellow-men is a righteous man who is good; one who is good towards Heaven and evil towards his fellow-man is a righteous man who is not good." (Kidushin 40a)

"There are three things upon which the world stands: Learning, Service, and Benevolence." (Avot I, 2)

"He who says, what is mine is mine, and what is mine is also mine, is a wicked man." (Avot V, 13)

"Whoever finds it possible to beg mercy for his fellow but fails to do so, is called a sinner." (Berachoth 12b)

NEW EUROPEAN PACT

A new alignment of nations has been established in Europe. It brings together Great Britain, Sweden, Norway and Denmark in what is called a limited financial union. It bears some resemblance to the precedent-setting customs union Benelux and like it has been endowed with a trick, name, Uniscan. The British and Scandinavian union is said to be aimed at eventual agreements in the field of customs and trade, but at present it deals chiefly with currency exchange. Its immediate purposes are to facilitate money settlements among the four nations and allow more international flow of money in the hands of individuals.

The birth of Uniscan is hailed as economic progress in Europe. But it is progress only in the sense that a motorist whose car is mired in the mud makes progress when he begins to find planks to put under the wheels. The Uniscan pact provides for lifting or modifying some of the cramping restrictions on the movement of money which have been set up to some extent by all European nations. Anyone knows that trade cannot move unless money can move, and the maze of currency restrictions is one important cause of the economic plight of Europe.

It is a fine thing that groups of nations in Europe are banding together to try to untangle the currency mess. That such groups are necessary is a sign of a fundamental frailty which still exists in Europe. The mess was created in the first place by economists who thought in each case that their own nation could protect its financial neck by building a wall around its money market.

AGAINST ALL CHANGE

An effort has been made to vindicate Metternich. Peter Viereck, a clever writer on current affairs, has just published a book, "Conservatism Revisited", in which he makes a plea for conservatism and centers his argument around the career of the nineteenth century Austrian statesman, Prince Clement Metternich.

For forty years chancellor or prime minister of the Austrian empire, Metternich engineered the downfall of Napoleon, and then spent the rest of his governmental career in sitting on the lid. His great dread was change of any kind. Improvements might theoretically be possible, but when it was proposed to put them into effect, Metternich always felt that it was not the time. Everyone has known persons like this; Metternich was the chief of the clan.

At last his system collapsed, and a crowd of revolutionists chased Metternich from Vienna. Eventually he was permitted to return, but only to live there, not to hold office. He died in 1859 just as the third Napoleon was repeating history by defeating the Austrian armies.

The world needs many things at present, but among them is not the unreasoning horror of everything new which summed up the life philosophy of Metternich.

BASEBALL HONORS

If voting were restricted to specialists, would the results be better? Many people have thought so, and wished that the American right to vote were so restricted. Yet the specialists who choose the members of the Baseball Hall of Fame have not done so well by themselves. As members of the Baseball Writers Association and familiar with the great players, they might have been expected to avoid some strange choices that have occurred in the past.

The announcement of another pending election gives them a chance to improve. The sports writers are asked to suggest ten former players who deserve commemoration in the Cooperstown, N. Y., Hall of Fame. If 75 per cent of those making recommendations agree on any player, he is automatically elected.

One hitch in the past has been that many writers have wasted their ballots on personal compliments to friends. In the last election votes were cast for such far-from-stars as Ping Bodie and Whitey Witt. Had some of these gone instead for Mel Ott, the holder of

"These Days"

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

THE HIDDEN HAND

An attempt is being made by the State Department to give the impression that Stalin is squeezing Mao Tse-tung very hard and that he might rebel. The New York Times gives considerable stress to the tendentious stories on this subject. Although the details of these accounts are historically incorrect, they present the picture that the State Department wishes to prevail in this country. The object is to save Mr. Acheson from criticism.

Mr. Acheson, to keep alive the myth of Mao Tse-tung's "Titoism" upon which he has gambled the future of the United States—and even Tito remains a gambler—emphasized the fact that Soviet Russia is demanding the separation of Mongolia, Manchuria and Sinkiang (Chinese Turkestan) from China. The impression that Acheson wishes to convey is that these are new separations, new demands, new pressures, something that has just arisen.

That, of course, is not true. Mongolia has been separated from China since 1921. In that year, the People's Revolutionary Government of Mongolia was organized. This government and Soviet Russia entered into a secret treaty, now available, which excluded China from Mongolia. By the Sino-Soviet treaty of 1924, the Mongolian people's republic became among the first of the Soviet satellite states. Acheson can answer that by saying that what he means is not Outer but Inner Mongolia—a distinction, but not important, as I shall show.

For Inner Mongolia has been part of the Japanese areas associated with their conquest of Manchuria in 1931. Eastern Inner Mongolia, as it used to be called, is the old Chinese province of Jehol and adjacent territory. For years, prior to 1931, the Chinese and Japanese vied for control of this area, and eventually the Japanese took it. This area is so situated that it is either part of Manchuria or of Manchuria. Therefore, it must be dealt with as such.

At Yalta, it was agreed between Stalin, Roosevelt, and Churchill, as follows:

"The status quo in Outer Mongolia (the Mongolian People's Republic) shall be preserved; . . . It is understood that the agreement concerning Outer Mongolia and the ports and railways referred to above (Tientsin, Port Arthur and the Manchurian railways) will require concurrence of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek. The President will take measures in order to obtain this concurrence on advice from Marshal Stalin."

So, it was not only fixed that Mongolia should be required to remain part of the Soviet system, but that Roosevelt would coerce Chiang Kai-shek to agree to it—to like it.

C. V. Song, shortly after Yalta, went to Moscow to arrange a treaty between China and Russia—a 30 years treaty of peace and friendship.

As for Manchuria, the Japanese had certain rights in Manchuria—which Russia had tried to steal from China in 1895—by virtue of the Portsmouth Treaty (1905) ending the Russo-Japanese war. Those rights were incorporated in a series of agreements with China, some bona fide, some accomplished by bribery.

From 1915 to 1931, the relations between China and Japan were disturbed on the issue of Manchuria, leading eventually to the seizure of the country by Japan in 1931. The Chinese claimed Manchuria as Chinese territory; the Japanese and Russians had demanded special rights.

At Yalta, Stalin, Roosevelt and Churchill (1945) agreed:

"The former rights of Russia violated by the treacherous attack of Japan in 1904 shall be restored, viz:

- (a) The commercial port of Dairen shall be internationalized, the pre-eminent interests of the Soviet Union in this port being safeguarded, and the lease of Port Arthur as a naval base for the U.S.S.R. restored;
- (b) The Chinese Eastern Railroad and the South Manchurian Railroad, which provide an outlet to Dairen, shall be jointly operated by the establishment of a joint Soviet-Chinese company, it being understood that the pre-eminent interests of the Soviet Union shall be safeguarded and that China shall retain full sovereignty in Manchuria;
- (c) Soviet Russia got the policing; what then was China's sovereignty?

In other words, Roosevelt and Churchill agreed to give to Stalin all that Japan had claimed in Manchuria from the Russo-Japanese war in 1905 to the seizure in 1931. We, the United States, gave Stalin in 1945 what Acheson says that Stalin is now demanding of Mao. Why does Acheson avoid the truth so diligently?

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

Washington—It seems a far cry from the civil rights issue in the south to the public power question in Montana, but the story has just leaked out as to how a coalition of Republicans and Dixiecrats killed the civil rights program in the senate a year ago.

The deal was engineered by the Montana Power and Light Co., and illustrates how certain G.O.P. maneuverings between elections help to lose elections on Election Day.

Key figures in this historic deal—discreetly referred to as a "voluntary arrangement"—were smooth, shrewd Sen. Dick Russell of Georgia; Nebraska's gregarious Sen. Ken Wherry, the G.O.P. floor leader; and Jack Corbett of Montana Power and Light, who coached the anti-public power team in the Senate.

The first "contact" was made when Senator Russell approached colorless Sen. Zales Ecton of Montana last March, at which time the Senate was fighting over a cloture rule aimed at stopping a civil rights filibuster.

Ecton then called in Wherry and Wherry pledged enough Republican votes to override Vice President Alben Barkley's anti-filibuster rule—provided Russell would deliver southern votes to beat a government plan to run a transmission line from the government's Kerr Dam to Anaconda, Mont.

Result: The government transmission line was approved. Only six southern senators were on hand to vote against it—Byrd, Va.; Ellender, La.; Holland, Fla.; McClellan, Ark.; Robertson, Va.; and Russell.

Note 1—Republican failure to vote for cloture against a civil rights filibuster will probably cost the Grand Old Party more northern votes in the next half dozen years than any other single issue.

Note 2—Despite the conniving of Montana Power and Light as part of the Truman program which the President has stated to be crucial, Secretary of Defense Johnson endeavored to appoint Curtis Calder, head of the parent company for Montana Power and Light, to be secretary of the army.

This is one reason why some senators wonder whether the White House always means what it says. Truman's G.O.P. Lady Friend, after President Truman's belittling speech to the National Defense Conference, Sen. Margaret Chase Smith, the gracious lady from Maine, leaned over to her colleague, Sen. Owen Brewster, also from Maine, and remarked:

"That's just what the Republicans partly needs, to humiliate it."

Record City Tenpin Tournament Starts Monday

Leonard Hits for 20; Refs Steal the Show

108 Teams Point For Prize List And Ten Trophies

The biggest city tournament in Kingston Bowling Association history gets under way on Monday, Feb. 6 at the Bowldrome, with 108 teams, an all-time record, poised for a shot at a prize list that totals $1,167.

The tournament entry list includes 108 five-man squads; 84 sets of doubles and 138 singles. Singles and doubles will be rolled at the Ruzzo Bowlatorium on Sunday, Feb. 12. For the first time in the history of the annual tenpin meet, there will be no Saturday night bowling.

Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk has been invited to officially launch the tournament. Officials of the Kingston Bowling Association and alley proprietors will take part in the ceremonies which are scheduled at 6:45 p. m. The shooting starts at 7 o'clock.

A breakdown of the entry list reveals 31 sets of A doubles; 43 in Class B and seven in Class C. The singles show 67 in A, 60 in B and 11 in Class C.

Prize money in Class A five-man amounts to $265; Class B, $50; and Class C, $30.

The previous record for five-man entries was 100 set in the pre-war period.

The schedules for the team and major events have been distributed at the various bowling alleys and captains are held liable for the appearance at the alleys at the allotted hour. The schedules will not be published in the newspaper.

In order to facilitate the bowling in the Bowldrome and Bowldrome have turned over their entire battery of alleys to the city tournament. There will be no league bowling in Kingston next week.

Another new record was set when four leagues—the Noranda, Electro, Ferraro Major and Herbers—entered their entire membership. The previous record was three leagues.

La Motta Sharp In Detroit Bout

Detroit, Feb. 4 (AP)—Middleweight champion Jake La Motta came up last night with a two-fisted answer to those who said he was slugging as a fighter.

The Bronx, N. Y., titleholder hung up a ninth round technical knockout over Dick Wagner of Portland, Ore., in a bruising battle at the Olympia stadium.

It was supposed to be a fairly easy go for Jake and just the first of a series of tuneup fights for La Motta's projected title defense in June. But a crowd of 11,440 which paid a gross rate of $25,000 saw the dead-end game Wagner make a fight out of it until 2:40 of the ninth round when Referee Clarence Rosen stopped the massacre.

Wagner, who fights as a light heavyweight, found himself in the odd position of weighing two pounds less than the middleweight champion. La Motta came in at 170, the heaviest weight of his pro career.

The one-time Oregon cowhand wanted a victory last night as a wedding present for Miss Elizabeth De Lillo, a Hunter College, N. Y. student whom he will wed February 19.

Middlecoff Shares Tucson Open Lead

Tucson, Ariz., Feb. 4 (AP)—A champion and a newcomer in the pro ranks lead a closely packed field into today's third round of the $10,000 Tucson Open golf tournament.

L. S. Openist Cary Middlecoff, of Grand Beach, Fla., and Manuel De La Torre, Glencoe, Ill., each has a one-stroke advantage at the halfway mark. Both have 36-hole totals of 131, nine under par.

But 13 other men are five strokes or less behind. There are 55 pros and one amateur shooting for or better for the first 36 holes. The field is taking the easy 6,402-foot, 18-hole course in pieces. Of the 130 pros and amateurs who finished yesterday, 49 broke par.

Glen Teal, Memphis, Tenn., and Henry Williams, Jr., Seane, Pa., have totals of 132.

Runs Camp Now

Smithtown, N. Y., Feb. 4 (AP)—Count Laszlo Paul Esterhazy, once lord of 68,000 rich Hungarian acres, today is running a church camp for underprivileged children. And he and his countless grandchildren to have the job. Count Laszlo, whose ancestor kept Joseph Haydn as their private symphony composer, is a refugee from Hungary's present Red government. The communists seized the fabulous Esterhazy estate with its 3,600 horses, its grove plants and its textile mills. He and the countess were admitted to the U. S. December 13 as displaced persons. The count called this "the best Christmas present I ever had."

Game in Idaho

Idaho's primitive area has an estimated game population of 13,000 deer, 500 elk, 400 sheep, and 100 goats besides numerous bear, coyote and predatory and fur-bearing animals.

Ohio Group Brings Heavy Pressure To Switch Poughkeepsie Regatta

Sen. Taft to Visit Proposed New Site

Marietta, O., Feb. 4 (AP)—Marietta's towing committee appeared confident today the Intercollegiate Rowing Association's Regatta would be transferred here from Poughkeepsie, despite current high waters and delay in an inspection by I.R.A. stewards.

Asa S. Bushnell, I.R.A. secretary, in a letter received by the committee today, said inspection of the local course and facilities, scheduled for Feb. 9, probably would not be made until after Feb. 22.

Senator Robert Taft is scheduled to visit Marietta Feb. 9 and Bushnell's letter said it "seemed wise not to try to compete with Senator Taft." Bushnell is a native of Springfield, O.

The Ohio group reached a 288-foot crest Thursday night, and flood stage is 38 feet. Anything under 14 feet could be turned into a practically currentless race course by manipulation of dams, the committee said. Unless there is more rain, the river is expected to drop to 14 feet in less than a week.

Offer Good Terms

Marietta College has agreed to accommodate crews at a cost of $3.90 per day per man. The committee said the cost at Poughkeepsie is about $7, making a saving of about $350 for the average 30-man crew here for 10 days.

The committee members had this to say of the postponement, and Marietta's chances to be selected as site of the big regatta: "I'm afraid that if the stewards postpone their visit until too close a race time they will then say it's too late to make the necessary arrangements. We've already accomplished a lot of good for the race, even if it goes to Poughkeepsie."

William Wiant, Marietta crew coach: "I feel sure we'll get together with the stewards in the near future. Individual circumstances of the stewards have made an earlier visit impossible."

Edward M. Hawes, vice chairman: "We are in better shape than we have ever been with them (the stewards). I don't see anything adverse at all in their attitude."

The Negro Bowler and the A.B.C.:
The American Bowling Congress, which boasts the largest membership of any sports group in the world, is under heavy pressure in three states—Illinois, New York and New Jersey—because of a clause in its constitution which restricts membership in the ABC to "individuals of the white male sex."

This sleeper has been in the A.B.C. constitution since its organization and was never seriously challenged until the war period when fair practice rights, anti-discrimination and other social measures focused the spotlight on the tenpin body.

The A.B.C.'s annual convention has persistently turned back challenges from its rank and file to eliminate that clause and, from all appearances, it is going to make a powerful fight to keep it there.

The Case in Illinois:
It is interesting to note that in answer to an injunction filed in Cook County Superior Court in Chicago, the ABC contended that it was being persecuted under the very law and by the very man who should protect it from invasion of its rights.

National Secretary Elmer H. Baumgardner contended that this sort of action is a threat to all social and fraternal groups. He said: "If our members are denied the right to set their own requirements, the very foundation of the American way of life will be jeopardized. If that happens no membership organization would be free to operate without fear of having outsiders force their way into the organization."

The ABC's answer said:
1. It is a social and fraternal association and has power, granted by Illinois, to restrict its membership any way it sees fit.
2. It is not a monopoly. It does not control the bowling of millions of non-members, but merely supervises the bowling of its members in ABC leagues and tournaments.

3. Membership in the ABC is a privilege, just as in any club or association, and is not an "inalienable right" of anyone.
4. It does not operate or control any bowling alleys, and cannot and does not bar anyone—Negro or white—from them.

The State of Illinois contended that the ABC was violating the Bill of Rights.

The ABC Answer:
The ABC's answer declared that the Bill of Rights in the Illinois constitution was put in to protect individuals from unlawful and unreasonable invasion of their privileges and liberties by the state and its officers.

The organization frankly conceded that its restricted membership to "white males." It said it did so because its membership wanted it that way. Delegates at the last three ABC conventions have voted overwhelmingly to maintain that rule.

"The restriction of membership of teams to persons of the white male sex is a valid and proper exercise of the rights and privileges conferred upon the ABC by the common statutes and common law of Illinois," the Congress contended.

To deny those rights "would deprive it and its members of liberty without due process of law," the ABC said.

The Negro Association:
On the charge of "monopoly" the ABC said that there are more than 16,000,000 bowlers in the United States, but only about 1,500,000 are affiliated with the ABC. It pointed out that Negroes have their own association, the National Bowling Association, which has its own membership rules made by and for Negroes.

The ABC further contended that it does not presume to regulate bowling or tournaments of the approximately 15,000,000 bowlers in the United States who are not affiliated with the ABC, nor does it presume to interfere with any of their rights and privileges.

The ABC declared that its famed annual two-month tournament turned up "ABC champions" not "national champions" nor "world champions."

The answer said that the ABC "has never denied to any citizen" his right to bowl in any bowling establishment. It is presumed that the ABC will use the same rebuttal in the New York and New Jersey suits. Meanwhile, millions of bowlers, including more than 1,000 sanctioned leagues in Kingston, await the decision with tremendous interest.

Royals Easily Trim Rockets, 52 to 23

Stone Ridge Royals kept rolling last night with an impressive 53-23 victory over the Kingston Rockets on the Stone Ridge court. The winners led 21-10 at the half.

Fritz Spongia, sharpshooting center, led the Riders with 20 points. Jim Slicker and Wood Falerstein shared 23. Top man for the Rockets was Jack Schraeder with 10.

The score:
Stone Ridge (53)—J. Slicker 12, Stella 16, Falerstein 11, Spongia 20, Lawrence 14, R. Stella 14, Osterhout 13.
Kingston Rockets (23)—Schraeder 10, Robinson 11, Rouns 12, Berryann 3, Edwards 12, Smith 14, Ward 14.

Leonard Hits for 20; Refs Steal the Show

It may have sent the basketball purists scurrying for the air raid shelters, but that Kingston-Monticello high school basketball game last night at the municipal auditorium was, to say the least, an unusual and confusing.

The 63 fouls—59 personals and four technicals—called by a pair of whistle-happy referees—Wehinger and Thompson set an all-time DUSO League record. And proved once again that there is no truer sight than that of a couple of referees losing control of a swiftly-paced high school basketball game.

Such a situation always borders on that thin line between the comic and the tragic. Last night's fiasco must be called comic. There is no other choice.

The incessant whistle tooting made a shamble of what started out to be a fair ball game. It wound up in a farce that really needed some incidental music by Gilbert and Sullivan to furnish the proper backdrop.

Leonard Stars
Kingston High won 69 to 51 to capture their second straight DUSO victory and the individual heroics were furnished by Leonard, the blond center who shot in the midst of a blizzard of fouls for Coach G. Warren Kins.

The antics of the referees were so distracting and the pace of the game so hazy, especially in the last quarter, that they may have overshadowed Leonard's brilliant performance. But the downtown youth was already as glib as a pro, outplaying highly touted Leon Breen by a handsome margin and clocking quarter scores of 6-0-3-3.

For his game-paced 20 points, Leonard, who had a foul in 19 points—nine from the foul line—while Breen, who had a foul in 11 points, was held to a single basket by Leonard, converted nine fouls and wound up with 11 points.

A "Bad Night" Mayhap
Messrs. Wehinger and Thompson are officially-approved DUSO League referees who meted out 63 fouls against Kingston and 26 against the Monticellos. They are probably good professional workers who had a "bad night" giving them the benefit of the doubt. But it is doubtful if the municipal auditorium ever played host to a sordid spectacle than unfolded last night.

Dick Schultz, the Maroon substitute, will probably not forget the game in a hurry. Young Dick achieved a large measure of dubious immortality last night when he fouled out on personal fouls in less than five minutes. As a matter of fact, no player in K.H.S. history ever fouled out in any personal foul in such a short span of time. And you couldn't blame young Dick if he quaked at some of those calls.

Fans Show Interest (?)
At the conclusion of the game a group of hate Kingston fans stormed to the press table, making inquiries and seeking information about the referees' ineptness, background, previous experience and a few other details not usually found on a personal questionnaire. But no information was available, not even the first names of the referees.

The final score was a sorry 69-51. Under normal circumstances, the Kingston would have piled up a greater margin of victory.

From a Kingston standpoint it was fortunate that the Maroons had a comfortable cushion of points, when Referee Wehinger and Thompson went berserk. The temper of the crowd slowly turned from one of rage and disgust to the gay carnival of a Roman holiday.

Leonard's sharpshooting and steady rebounding furnished the Kingston highlights. The blond center playing rings around Leon Breen. Moll got the first score of the night on a driving layup and quickly added a pair of tips. As Kingston spurred to an 11-4 lead and forced the Monticellos to call time out.

Monticello made its best showing of the game in the next six minutes, cutting the Maroon margin to 16-12 at the quarter mark but thereafter it was just another ball game with Leonard and Ronnie Scheffel cutting up experts. The Maroons were in front 36-14 at halftime.

Appearance of Roof Essential

The roof of a house, in addition to almost all exterior parts, should be considered for appearance as well as durability.

The shingle roof is the most informal of all materials in common use. An all-wood structure almost demands this type of roof, although the use of wooden shingles for roofs is now forbidden in most cities.

Of the other common materials, composition shingle, tile, and slate—each has its own advantages.

Composition shingles, which are lighter than tile or slate and available in a wide variety of colors, are often economical and practical. But roof colors such as red, dull orange, or old blue should be used with caution. Blues such as these are only effective when they are in harmony with the rest of the house, its trimmings, and the surroundings.

The use of roof tiles in strong unusual colors is effective with Spanish or Mediterranean type houses, but they are unsuited to the majority of American designs. Slate is a rugged material, generally higher in initial cost, but it is enduring and fireproof. It is believed that its use on frame cottages often gives them a top-heavy effect.

The ideal roof is one that is permanent, protective, beautiful, and architecturally in character with the house.

How to Use Color

If the room you plan to repaint has a northern exposure, cheer it up by using one of the warm colors—red, yellow, or orange. For a sunny room cool colors (those grouped around blue in the color wheel) are preferable. Large areas of yellow in a very sunny room result in glare.

Cedar Closet Is Necessity

High up on the list of unwelcome summer visitors is the moth. No matter how well screened or how careful people are about not leaving unprotected doors open, these pests seem to be at home, and sit down to a nice meal of blue serge, fur coat or wool blanket.

A fine protection against these possible ravages of moths is a properly constructed cedar closet, where winter blankets, furs and clothing may be stored.

The entire surface of the closet, including the inside of the door, should be covered with three-eighths-inch aromatic cedar lining. It is preferable to line the floor with thirteen-sixteenths-inch, but three-eighths-inch can be used. The door should be tight fitting and close against felt gaskets. The lining may be placed directly over plaster if care is exercised to nail it to the studs. Face nailing is suggested, but blind nailing may be used if desired.

The corners should be fitted with quarter-round cedar moulding. Cedar shelving may also be used with added effect. The more aromatic wood employed the better the check against moths. A further precaution is to thoroughly clean any article before storing.

Over-Size Closets Can Waste Valuable Space

As the closet is a purely utilitarian part of the house, it should be compact and efficient rather than large and space consuming.

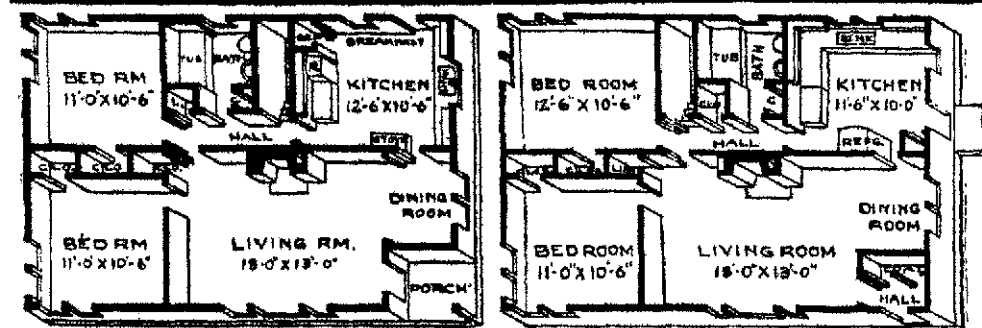

In turning over a large area over to a closet, the home planner automatically shuts off a floor area that would otherwise be given to living or bedroom space. The closet door remains closed most of the time so that a closet too large is actually space wasting.

Closets should be measured to suit the demands of the home owner and sufficient storage needs should dictate the sizes of the areas to be closeted.

To Refinish Furniture In Natural Color

When it is desired to change painted furniture to natural color, all of the old paint should be thoroughly removed with paint and varnish remover. When all of the old paint has been stripped off, wash the surface thoroughly with turpentine. Then smooth the surface with fine sandpaper, wipe off all dust and apply an oil stain of the desired color, in accordance with the manufacturer's instructions on the container. Finally, apply two coats of clear, transparent varnish, being sure to let the first coat dry before the second coat is applied.

American Farmhouse Has Modern Ideas

Home Design Well Adapted to Needs Of Today

Coupling the simplicity of the old American farmhouse style with such modern ideas as corner and picture windows and the combination living room with dining room the Home of the Week Plan Service comes forth with a home design well adapted to present day needs. It is called "The Northford."

A choice of two floor plans is offered, one having the entrance under a sheltered porch on the front of the house, the other having the front door open from a concrete stoop into a tiny hall with coat closet. There also is a slight variation in the general layout, the kitchen being larger in one plan, the rear bedroom larger in the other.

The house measures 36 x 25 feet. Built with the porch end to the street, it could be placed on a lot with a 40-foot frontage. On a larger lot the house could be placed as pictured, with its long expanse paralleling the street.

Cubage of this house is 18,900 feet. Storage space in the attic could be made accessible by placing a disappearing stairway in the back hall of the house. Insulation-type ceiling should be installed at the time of construction and ventilating louvers placed in gable ends.

White painted shingles were the exterior finish chosen in the example pictured, though clapboards, brick or stone could have been used for the sidewalls.

Alcove Adds Space
The living-dining room is 18 feet long and 13 feet wide. An alcove treatment of the outside end of the room creates dining space directly connected with the kitchen by a swinging door.

The flush-mantel type fireplace in the long inside wall of the room is placed directly opposite a picture window that has conventional-type sliding windows at either side, easily opened for ventilation.

Two doors near the inside corner of the living room (a closet is located between them) open into the front bedroom and to a rear hall connecting with all other parts of the house. In both plans, the front bedroom measures 11 x 10 1/2 feet. The rear bedroom, at one end of the straight hall, varies in size in the two plans.

Bathroom and cellar stairway open off the hall, as does a closet which can be either used for linens or for general storage. The bathroom also has its own storage closet along with the usual shower-over-tub and other modern fixtures. Linoleum floor covering is specified for the bathroom and for the kitchen; the other rooms have hardwood floors.

Kitchen Planned for Efficiency
The kitchen in both plans is laid out with an eye to efficiency. The first plan has the service entry opening at the rear of the house; the alternate plan changes this to the side of the house, from which a breezeway might be built to connect house and an adjacent garage if the lot is large enough to permit this arrangement. In both layouts a broom closet has been included.

In the full basement the heating system is placed under the kitchen and laundry equipment under the bathroom. This permits utilization of the area under the living room as a recreation room, and space under the bedrooms for storage and hobby rooms. A bulkhead exit from cellar to rear yard could be installed.

Complete plans and specifications for this "Home of the Week" or any other design of this series, are available at moderate cost. To ascertain the exact price of these documents, write to the Home Building Editor, Dept. 24, Kingston Daily Freeman, and enclose a self-addressed envelope bearing a 3-cent stamp. At least one week should be allowed for a reply.

Bedroom Lavatory Relieves Pressure On Main Bathroom

One of the most practical ways of providing additional washing facilities in many of the older homes is by the installation of a lavatory or wash basin in one or more of the bedrooms, says the Plumbing and Heating Industries Bureau.

Because fine vitreous china lavatories, with their lustrous finish, are fully as attractive as the best furniture, there is no reason from a decorative standpoint why a lavatory should not be in a bedroom. A well designed lavatory harmonizes with the finest surroundings.

Equipped with a wide ledge serving as a convenient shelf for cosmetics, a medicine cabinet with mirror and tubular shadowless fluorescent lighting, the lavatory in a bedroom serves the dual purpose of a wash basin and a dressing table. The bedroom lavatory helps to relieve pressure on the main bathroom.

In one home which was recently modernized, lavatories were installed in the corners of two adjoining bedrooms. A small bathroom was placed between the two bedrooms. There are two fixtures in the bathroom—a shower cabinet and a water closet. All four fixtures are closely grouped for piping economy.

Cast Iron Preferred
Cast iron is generally recommended for sewer pipes placed under basement floors and foundations because it resists breakage under external pressure.

Do You Remember by SOPHIE MILLER

Received a nice little note from Mrs. Harry V. Ten Hagen of St. James street, which read: "Referring to your column of Jan. 20, mentioning the names of local residents having copies of the 'Ulster County Gazette' dated Jan. 4, 1800, which contains the account of George Washington's funeral, wish to state that I also own a copy of said paper. Do you happen to know if this issue has any value. I referred Mrs. Ten Hagen to the New York State Library at Albany, N. Y. for full particulars, a chance to see many reprints, to our Senate House Museum building."

Another interesting letter from Verna I. Ellis, who writes: "If my memory serves me correctly, some weeks back an item in your column stated that although it had been stated that the blizzard of '88 on March 12 the official date was Feb. 13, 1888. I wish to state that March 12 is the official date, and not Feb. 13. You see, Feb. 13, 1888 was my mother's 24th birthday, also her wedding day. They had been married just a month lacking one day, when that blizzard hit."

"They were living up against the mountain in what is now called Ashokan, and many a time I have heard them tell what a time they had shoveling out after that storm. Even their windows on the first floor were blacked out because of the snow. Both my parents are still living and can verify this. If they both live until the 13th of next month, (Feb.) they will not only celebrate their 62nd wedding anniversary but she will also celebrate her 82nd birthday. I think this is some kind of a record, don't you? Their names are Mr. and Mrs. Orville Winchell of 59 S. Manor avenue," signed, Verna I. Ellis, daughter.

That certainly is a record, and I do hope you all have an enjoyable celebration on February 13 of their 62nd wedding anniversary and your mother's 82nd birthday. Although the Feb. 13 date has been sent in to me from time to time, so no doubt there was a heavy snowfall on that date, but you are correct, for according to the World Almanac, the famous blizzard of 1888, was on March 12. It deposited some 16.5 inches of snow in New York and the storm covered more than a day and the total snowfall exceeded 20 inches. Perhaps you can send me some stories your folks told you about that famous blizzard?

Also received a letter from H. D. Greene, of Norfolk, Virginia, who lived here some 40 years ago and whose father was connected with the blue stone industry. He is a regular subscriber to The Freeman, and often sends me news of long ago. This time he covers the Delaware and Hudson Canal which began at Honesdale, Pa., a coal mining region and ended near Edinville, where it emptied in the Rondout Creek. He says: "The waterfront which extended from the foot of lower Broadway to Edinville was a busy place. To the old timers the ghost-like vacant buildings bring back memories of a vanished way of living that was, in many ways, as picturesque as frontier days of the 'wild west.' Will describe his trip on one of these canal boats in a future column. When Mr. Greene visits Kingston he drives all around to see what changes take place from year to year. I guess one a Kingstonian, always a Kingstonian."

Plane Reseeding
In Arizona and New Mexico, large areas have been reseeded by dropping millions of seed bombs from airplanes. The bombs, which bury themselves on striking the earth, contain grass seed, fertilizer, and rodent repellent.

Count Your Tricks To Insure Success
By WILLIAM E. MCKENNEY
America's Card Authority
Written for NEA Service
Everyone participating in a national tournament cannot win one of the national championship trophies. Nevertheless, there are a lot of one-session events which are important.
Today's hand was one which was played in the opening night event by Ronald Rosenberg of Atlantic City and his partner Freddy Richel, also of Atlantic City, N. J. They won top score in their section and finished second in the event.
Mr. Rosenberg, sitting West, liked today's hand because he had to keep counting his tricks. In response to South's club bid, North opened the seven of clubs. The jack was played from dummy and South refused to cover.
Declarer started to count his tricks. He marked South with the king of clubs; therefore, he figured he had three club tricks, three sure diamond tricks and if they broke, that would give him an extra trick in diamonds. He had a spade trick, but still not enough for his contract.
If he tried to establish a heart trick he knew his club stoppers would be knocked out. He decided to steal a quick spade trick. He led the four of spades and South, correctly, played low and Mr. Rosenberg won the trick with the queen.
Declarer now tried to find out if the diamond suit would break. He cashed the king of diamonds and then led a small diamond to the ace, only to learn that North held four diamonds. At this point, declarer led a small heart which led a spade hoping the finesse of the ten might work. When North's jack dropped, dummy's king was played and South won the trick with the ace.

South returned a club which declarer won with the ace. Declarer played the queen of diamonds and South was embarrassed.
He could not discard a spade, as that would establish declarer's spade suit, so he decided to discard the nine of clubs. Declarer now led a heart which South won. South cashed his last club, but now was forced to lead a spade, which gave declarer his contract.

Thor Automatic Sink

and a dishwasher combined;
— and a garbage disposal unit
designed to fit — if desired.

Smart Families Are Choosing the New THOR Automatic Sink.....

- Because it enabled us to gain 100 square feet of living space when we built our home — gave us a finer, more livable room arrangement.
- Because it permitted us to plan a modern, completely efficient work center instead of just another kitchen.
- Because it "flicks away" two of home-making's most laborious and time-taking tasks — washing clothes and washing dishes.
- Because it eliminates trudging up and down the basement stairs on washday — and no more messy rinsing in old-fashioned laundry tubs.
- Because the total cost of the Thor Sink — combining clothes and dish washer — was so much less than buying and installing a clothes washer, a dish washer and a sink as separate units.

Insulation Is Helpful
Over Heating Plant
Wood floors in rooms directly over heating plants may develop cracks as a result of excessive heat, unless they are insulated. Flooring specialists advise protecting such floors by placing insulating board or double weight building paper between the joists of the basement ceiling in the affected area. Standard insulating board about one-half inch thick, 30-pound asphalt felt or 30-pound asbestos felt, is satisfactory. The job is not difficult and may be done in an old as well as a new building. Simple precautions such as this in caring for good flooring of oak or other hardwood are more than repaid in the long years of service they render.

Cost of Painting
The cost of properly painting a new frame house, exterior and interior, is approximately 4 per cent of the total cost of the building.

EDUCATION NOTES

Elementary School News

A short time ago, the pupils of School 3 decided that they should organize to promote safety in the school area. It was decided that a committee be formed to draw up a set of rules for safety. This committee was formed by the pupils and they later presented rules, which were accepted by the pupils as being needed. This activity was followed by the selection of a group of boys to help the committee in living up to the rules. Boys are now on duty.

Miss Schwenk's grade at School 4 has been busy engaged collecting pictures in connection with their study of farm life. The class takes great pride in the display of their efforts, which they have mounted and arranged on the bulletin boards. The collection consists of over 100 pictures.

At School 4 the seventh grade has collected, to date, $20.75 for the March of Dimes. This indicates a fine contribution to this worthy cause.

The boys and girls of No. 7 School successfully conducted their own March of Dimes campaign.

Tony Van Gonsie and Bred Hyatt were the general chairmen. The upper grades had a room chairman who helped to promote the campaign in their own rooms. One seventh grade of which Buddy Carpinelli was chairman contributed $25 alone.

The general chairman made the collections each day and the children counted the money. Bred and Tony made a thermometer and hung it in the lower hall. Each day the mercury rose until Friday, January 27, it broke. Because each child had an active part, No. 7 School will contribute $200.18 to the March of Dimes.

A safety campaign has been started at School 1. Children are visiting different classrooms and giving talks on safety. They are also making safety posters and displaying safety pictures on bulletin boards. The children hope that they will be allowed to display some of the posters in local stores to serve as reminders rather than as works of art.

School 5 has been very interested in the Infantile Paralysis Campaign. One of our former students was affected while here in school several years ago. Today she is well again and a student at the high school.

The children collected $120 which will be given to the fund.

The children in Mrs. Weber's fifth grade at School 7 are enjoying a half hour of music each Friday. The program is planned and conducted by a committee which is responsible for bringing their violins and their records and conducting the entire program. So far we have heard music by Stephen Foster, a group of marimba band selections, music from Oklahoma, and from the South Pacific. Children's square dances and even a few selections by Duke Ellington. Through this program the children hope to arouse an interest in all types of music and to develop a taste for good music. In addition to this, the grade is reading a good music magazine called Keyboard Jr. Discussions show that they enjoy it.

The upper grades of School 6 are instituting a Student Council. The purpose is to train children for the American ideal of popular democracy, which rests upon the fundamental principles of the individual. Each room is represented by one member elected by the group.

The objectives of this program are to train not only for leadership but at the same time to promote understanding and selection among those who are to follow.

Some of the problems which were brought up at the meeting held Wednesday afternoon were: How to improve the condition of our playground, lunch rooms, and rest rooms. These problems are being discussed and a report will be given at the next council meeting.

Miss Eliza Smith's second grade at School 7 has received Weather Books called "Weather and You" and are discussing science as it concerns the weather. Since the show has finally come the grade is concentrating on the winter season through pictures, books and discussions.

Jimmy Bruckert and John Canfield made a report to the seventh grade concerning the weather in January. This next month two other children will be in charge of the February Weather Chart.

In Mrs. Walker's room at School 5 science is receiving particular emphasis. Real turtles, salamanders, fishes and polliwogs are being studied. Questions which arise on the care and habits of these specimens give opportunity for close observation and discussion.

The children find that animals have many of the same needs as humans and perform many of the same physical functions.

Jack Doyle, Robert Campbell and Marilyn Broad of the 6th grade in School 7 have been appointed to write stories about famous artists and their paintings. Slides of these paintings are shown each morning and noon in the lower hall. Children are learning to recognize many of the works of important artists.

In School 5 the children have organized a Student Council. The people who are representing the room are Esther Schaffer, Jerry White, Leith Harrison, Joseph Reynolds, William Cragan, Ellen Cernocko and Marlene Cappino. The first meeting of the council was held on Thursday afternoon in the school library.

On the upstairs floor in School 5 the children are observing the following safety rules displayed on the bulletin board from Mrs. Boyce's room:

Walk through the halls.
Walk down the stairs.
Walk during fire drills.
Look where you are walking.

Mrs. Weber's fifth grade in School 7 is making safety maps for the school vicinity. First on the map was put the school, then with markers were drawn the streets. Two circles symbolize the street lights. A big circle with a small circle inside symbolizes danger spots, where we are to use our heads. A small square box symbolizes a policeman for protection. We hope in our small way, that we can end school accidents around our building.

The basketball team of School 3 have won seven of their last nine games. They are now losing only to School 4 and School 2 by rather close scores.

Plan Memorial At School No. 5

A memorial for all who gave their lives for their country in World War 2 is being planned at School 5.

Our records show the following boys who attended School 5: Harold Miller, Cornelius Elting, William Geisel, Richard Terpening, Charles Van Gasebeck, Albert Tremper, John Rousso, Robert H. Dietz, Frances Susilo, John Robertson, George Whipple, Vincent Joyce, George Houghtaling.

If we have omitted a name, or if anyone knows of any name omitted, please notify Miss R. Miriam Hillman, Tel. 1998; Miss Florence C. Mulhern, Tel. 1832-3; or Miss Carolyn E. Hearn, Tel. 3651.

We would appreciate it if families of the names could loan a photograph of these boys.

Window Displays by Retailing Two Class

Two window displays were set up by the Retailing Two students in Room 153 at K.H.S. the week of January 13.

A bowling display was set up by Ronald Deyo, Frank Faloutico, and Jack Kriz. This display contained bowling pins, bowling balls, shoes and bags. The boys secured their merchandise through the cooperation of Potter Brothers on Fair Street.

The second display was an arrangement of silver and other merchandise for the future bride's home chest. The merchandise was displayed in a shower-like fashion in a very colorful setup. Those who arranged this display were Rosemary Gerber, Anne Suski, and John Berlanga.

Lord Norman Dies

London, Feb. 4 (AP)—Lord Norman, longtime governor of the Bank of England and one of the most famous of the world's bankers, died at his home here today. He was 78. He had headed the Bank of England from 1920 to 1944.

Sharp Criticism

and be given "greater responsibility" in the handling of relief funds.

He said he expected his committee to recommend legislation that would broaden terms under which vouchers could be used.

In addition to the mandatory voucher system, Ostertag listed three ways in which the present law could be altered:

1. Distributing vouchers for such items as coal, rent, electricity and other fixed charges.

2. Permitting local governing bodies, such as boards of supervisors, to determine whether vouchers would be used in their area, and to what extent.

3. Broadening of local "discretion" in the issuance of vouchers in individual cases where the relief recipient has shown he is incompetent to handle cash.

Ostertag said the last method was the "most sensible."

Search Is Continued
Whitehorse, Y. T., Feb. 4 (AP)—The dogged search for a fully loaded military transport that vanished over the Yukon wastes January 28 goes on. The few fragile leads to the fate of the big plane and the 44 persons aboard have proved groundless. Twenty-six planes took to the air here yesterday in the joint U. S.-Canadian aerial hunt for the transport, which disappeared on a flight from Anchorage to Great Falls, Mont.

Driver Escaped Uninjured

Richard Bruning of Monroe, driver of this privately owned tractor-trailer truck, escaped uninjured Thursday morning when the vehicle left the road on Route 9W at West Camp, tore down a telephone pole and finally wound up on its side. Trooper Raymond Ayers of the Lake Katrine Barracks surveys the damage. Others in the photo are not identified. Trooper Ayers said the accident was due to slippery road conditions. (Freeman Photo)

Girl, 14, Shot, Raped in Virginia

Danville, Va., Feb. 4 (AP)—Fourteen-year-old Marian Lloyd, shot down and raped on a lone country road, may have been killed with a 12-gauge shotgun shell borrowed from her mother.

Marian's shattered body was found shortly after the slaying yesterday. It was lying in a clump of bushes along the road the schoolgirl took on her way home from her seventh grade class.

A few hours later, Sheriff J. A. Tume said a 24-year-old farmhand—an ex-convict on probation—formally admitted the killing and rape.

Tume said the young man, George Thomas Halley, told him he had borrowed four shells earlier in the day from Marian's mother, Mrs. William A. Lloyd, "to hunt crows with."

Marian, brown-haired and tall for her age, was hit in the stomach by the massive charge of lead shot—the heaviest load made for standard shotgun.

Halley believed the girl was still alive when he raped her, Tume said.

But she was dead when her mother came on the darkening scene—led by other school children who told her they had found blood on the road.

Just seven months ago, a judge in the neighboring state of North Carolina described the admitted slayer of the victim of "a terrible miscarriage of justice," and placed him on probation.

Halley had served 10 years in Virginia prisons for a theft he committed when he was 14 years old. He was paroled last year but faced a robbery charge in North Carolina.

The judge, George B. Patton of Greensboro, N. C., freed Halley after a Baptist minister, the Rev. Ralph Dellwood of Halifax, vouched for him and got him his farm job.

Alleged Killer Arrested

Port Jervis, N. Y., Feb. 4 (AP)—Willis Brown, 28, charged with killing another Negro in Philadelphia over an argument as to who was the best dancer, was arrested here last night. Philadelphia officers messaged police here that Brown allegedly drew a .22 caliber revolver from his pocket at a Philadelphia tavern and shot and killed William Ingram after the two of them had engaged in a dancing contest, January 31.

Ingram died the next day from five bullet wounds in his stomach. Brown, of Philadelphia, was traced to New York where it was learned he boarded a bus for Port Jervis, reportedly to visit a sister here. He was picked up at the bus terminal. Brown was taken to Goshen for arraignment before Orange County Judge Raphael Egan. He was expected to waive extradition.

50,000 Men Are Listed

New York, Feb. 4 (AP)—They don't know it, but 50,000 New York men have been listed on city records since 1936 as the fathers of illegitimate children. They were disclosed by the city health department yesterday after the State Supreme Court's Appellate Division ruled that the city has been violating state law in recording illegitimate births. The city has been accepting the word of mothers of illegitimate children as to the identity of the father, without consulting the man or getting his consent. Correcting the records, says a health department counsel, would be "an impossible task."

Phone Mediation

New York, Feb. 4 (AP)—The federal government, worried over the threatened telephone strike set for next Wednesday, called labor and management negotiators together today for their first joint, mediation talks. The issues are mainly wages and other employee benefits. Today's talks were between bargainers for the Western Electric Co. and the C.I.O. Communications Workers of America.

No Names, No Cigars

Denison, Tex., Feb. 4 (AP)—Mrs. Henry White of Durant, Okla., has run out of names and Mr. White stopped passing out cigars long ago. They've just had twins for the fifth time. That makes 19 children for the Whites. Sixteen of them are living.

Lawmakers Ask

British wartime atomic mission to this country, got access to top American atomic secrets.

In a statement from his home at Norwalk, Conn., Groves said that Fuchs held "an important and responsible" position at Los Alamos laboratory in New Mexico during the war and in that post had access to "a great deal of information" on pending atomic matters and proposed developments.

The story Hoover unfolded at a three-hour closed meeting of a Senate Appropriations Subcommittee yesterday brought astonishment, dismay and grim determination to the men who heard him.

As outlined by the senators present, Hoover's story was this: Fuchs, a German by birth, became a paid Moscow agent as early as 1933. A physicist, he went to England and applied for and received citizenship papers in 1942.

He worked his way to the top of the British atomic delegation and came to this country. Cleared by the British security agencies, he was given unquestioned access to American atomic secrets.

Visited Installations
He worked with American scientists, visited major atomic installations and even was present at the assembly of a bomb, apparently the most vital secret of all. He took part in atomic matters in this country from late 1943 until June, 1948.

In the course of his occupation, Fuchs was able to pick up some information about the proposed super-destructive hydrogen bomb.

Senators quoted Hoover as saying Fuchs had confessed to passing along atomic and hydrogen bomb information to the Russians. The scientist faces trial in British courts, but possibly on a relatively minor charge so that still secret information will not be revealed in testimony.

The FBI picked up Fuchs' trail through information it gathered about the Canadian atomic spy ring, which was broken four years ago. This information came within the last six months and was passed along to the British, who arrested Fuchs quickly.

Senators said Hoover made it plain that Fuchs got extremely vital atomic information. A scientist who worked with him said that Fuchs got enough information to advance the Russian atomic time table at least a year.

Dr. Earl Long, professor in the chemistry department at the University of Chicago's Institute of Metals said: "If he really did transmit information, I should think that his knowledge is such that completion of an atom bomb could conceivably have been advanced by one year."

Gave Much Help to Reds
Amazed lawmakers, some of whom said they were "bowed over" by the revelations, speculated that the Russian atomic explosion may have been speeded by months through Fuchs' information.

They said they hope that what he learned and reportedly passed on about the hydrogen bomb was only theoretical, since this country is only now embarking on the actual making of such a bomb.

Hoover was reported to have asked for money to hire 700 more employees, including some 300 additional F.B.I. agents, in a step to tighten American security.

The Fuchs case cut loose a torrent of demands that the United States go it entirely alone in development of the H-bomb.

Senator Byrd (D-Va.) told a reporter he is "unalterably opposed to giving the secret of the H-bomb—or the bomb itself when we build it—to Britain or anybody else."

Senator McClellan (D-Ark.) said that the secrets must be kept at home, despite this country's desire to cooperate with Britain in military defense matters.

Rep. Wood (D-Ga.) chairman of the House Committee on Un-American Activities, said his group undoubtedly will look into the Fuchs case.

Violent Clashes

New Delhi, India, Feb. 4 (AP)—India has protested strongly to Pakistan against violent communal clashes in the Khulna district of Pakistan's East Bengal. The violence, an Indian spokesman said, has been marked by deaths, rapings, looting and forcible conversions.

2 Held on Morals Count Released on $500 Bail

Two youths arrested on morals charges, allegedly involving a 14-year-old girl, appeared before Judge Raymond J. Mino in city court this morning, and both were released on $500 bail.

Eno V. Salmi, 20, of 42 Wilbur avenue asked for an adjournment to February 8, when he was arraigned. His attorney is Francis Martocci.

Vincent J. Stokes, 22, of 61 Cedar street, waived examination and is awaiting grand jury action. His attorney is Bernard A. Culleton.

Salmi was arrested Friday by Detective Clarence Brophy on a charge of impairing the morals of a minor.

The charge against Salmi is connected with the arrest earlier this week of Stokes, who was taken into custody by Detective Brophy for alleged "carnal abuse of a female child."

Northwest Storm

vere cold. Temperatures were mostly normal.

Skies were clear in the flood areas of the east central and southern states. Many of the swollen rivers appeared receding or leveling off from their high marks.

But some 40,000 persons remained homeless, including 23,000 in Arkansas and 10,000 in Kentucky. The homeless in Tennessee numbered 4,700; between 1,200 and 1,300 in Ohio; 900 in southeast Missouri and 100 in West Virginia.

The Ohio river at Cincinnati stood at 57.3 feet, five feet above flood stage, and inched toward a predicted crest of 59 feet. No serious damage was expected.

Rivers were reported falling in Tennessee, Kentucky and West Virginia.

Court Gives Praise To Landlord for Fixing Apartments

New York, Feb. 4 (AP)—An East Harlem landlord got a judicial pat on the back instead of a jail sentence when called into court yesterday on a charge of letting trash accumulate around two tenement houses.

The trash, he explained, collected while he did a one-man job of making the apartments more livable.

The landlord, Frank Havlik, 55, of 28-09 38th street, Long Island City, Queens, had pleaded guilty a week ago Friday to 13 housing violations. He was charged with allowing debris to collect in the yards and hallways of the two buildings.

The upper Manhattan tenements are located between First and Second avenues. Havlik said he bought them 18 months ago. Some debris, he said, was left by the previous owner.

He created more debris, he admitted, while remodeling the apartments. He worked alone because labor costs are so high, he said.

"The people who live in these apartments are poor but deserve the best of housing," Havlik said. "That is the reason I bought the buildings in the first place: To give people who can't afford to pay high rents good apartments."

The landlord charges $18 to $26 a month for three rooms and $26 to $30 for four rooms.

"This landlord is entitled to a medal," said Corporation Counsel Mrs. Bernice Rogers. "We usually ask for a jail sentence for erring landlords, but his renovated apartments are truly an inspiration and show what a landlord can do if he really wants to."

Havlik produced photographs in municipal term court showing the extent of remodeling.

Magistrate Morris Rothenberg suspended sentence, saying, "If the work has been done as these photos indicate, you certainly deserve commendation."

Paight Trial Has

was incurably ill of cancer. The former, Carl Paight, was sergeant of the Stamford, Conn., police force.

Among 48 witnesses for the defense since the trial opened January 24, many have testified that Paight was driven out of her mind by the news of her father's illness and was unable when she shot him.

Dr. Clifford Moore, the star medical witness for the defense, said Paight developed a "cancer phobia" after the disease struck other members of the family. This fear caused her mind to black out when she learned her father was a victim, he said.

Carol, pale, slender, and six feet tall, testified Thursday morning in her own defense. In a dramatic courtroom scene she testified she did not remember the shooting. She said she blacked out when they broke the news to her of her father's cancer.

Yesterday the State of Connecticut struck back with its own psychiatrist, Dr. Joseph M. Lesko, who made five visits to Carol after the shooting.

He swore the girl was sane when she put a single bullet into her father's brain as he slept in the Stamford Hospital.

But Dr. Lesko admitted, under defense cross-examination, that he was not experienced as a psychiatrist as Dr. Moore. Nor, he added, did he have as good an opportunity to judge the girl's mental condition as did Dr. Moore.

Testimony on both sides ended shortly after noon Friday.

Local Death Record

The funeral of Michael M. McGrath, a veteran of World War I, was held from the Jensen & Deegan Funeral Home, 15 Deegan street today at 9 a. m. and at 9:30 a high Mass of requiem was offered for the repose of his soul at St. Joseph's Church by the Rev. Edward J. McGrath of St. Mary's Church, Jersey City, N. J., a nephew of the deceased.

Relatives and friends attended the services to pay a final tribute to his memory. During the Mass Anthony Bonaccorso, "Papa Angelus," and "Ave Maria" as the body was borne from the church. At the conclusion of the Mass, those assembled in the church stood during the playing of the Star Spangled Banner. Among the clergy that called during the bereavement were the Rev. Msgr. Stephen P. Connelly and the Rev. Fathers Simmons, Keating and McGrath. Floral tributes were numerous and beautiful, and there were scores of Mass cards. Bearers were Kenneth Wood, John McConnell, James McGrath, Alfred Wood, Donald McConnell and Leo McGrath. Burial was in St. Mary's cemetery, where Fathers McGrath and Keating gave the final absolution at the grave. A firing squad from Kingston Post, 150 volunteers, fired three volleys over the grave and taps were sounded by John R. Mayne, bugler. He was in charge of the squad also, consisting of Morgan Ryan, Lester Barth, Abe Singer and John Tyler.

Lewis Tells Truman

peal of the Taft-Hartley law and he has tried to avoid using it. Lewis, too, is one of the act's most vigorous critics.

Reports of a Monday strike call came from a U.M.W. committeeman and operators in the Taylorville, Ill., area. The committeeman asked that his name be withheld.

Columbus, O., Adolph Pacifico, president of U.M.W. District Six, said he had heard of no such strike order. He added, however, that "there is deep dissatisfaction in District Six over Mr. Truman's intervention."

A spokesman for operators in the Pittsburgh area said a full-scale walkout is not indicated there.

Knowledge Disclaimed
Other U.M.W. district leaders in Ohio, Pennsylvania and West Virginia disclaimed any knowledge of general strike orders but one district president said he feared last week's walk-outs would spread in northern West Virginia on Monday.

Mr. Truman's main proposal was for a 70-day truce at "normal production" to permit a fact-finding board to look into the dispute and suggest a settlement. The parties could not accept the proposal, but the recommendation as a basis for negotiating a new contract.

The other White House proposal was to resume "normal production" and to engage in direct negotiations for a new contract.

Northern and western commercial operators and the steel companies "accepted" the fact-finding plan.

The Southern Coal Producers' Association, remaining major segment of the industry, agreed to the work resumption plan last night and said it would advise the President how its members felt about the plan today.

Contract talks which had opened Wednesday between Lewis and the operators from the north and west were broken off by the owners on Thursday. They said Lewis wanted to control the number of days to be worked, and further talks were useless.

But U. S. Conciliation Director Cyrus S. Ching was back in the picture again today, ready to help mediate or arrange meetings if that became possible.

Red Sabotage . . .
strike at the St. Nazaire government aircraft factory broke the back of that stoppage.

Troops already have been used to load cargoes intended for French soldiers fighting in Indo-China. President Vincent Auriol has declared that supplies will be sent to the men fighting Communism. No Chinami's forces, regardless.

A show of government force also may break up the Communist campaign against landing American equipment. Workers in Cherbourg, the main French arrival port for the arms supplies, already have voted overwhelmingly to unload the cargoes.

New detachments of troops also have been sent to Cherbourg, where Atlantic Pact shipments are expected late this month.

Under Red Pressure
France's whole empire is under Communist pressure. Moscow-trained Ho Chi-minh is leading the anti-French fighters in Indochina. Communist-inspired disturbances in two French colonies on the African Ivory coast have been suppressed by gunfire, a business unpopular at home and abroad.

Elsewhere in western Europe the Communist cold guerrilla warfare has taken on other forms. Berlin again is being tormented by traffic slowdowns. A highly-placed American source here described that situation as "serious."

East Germany's Communists have stopped their campaign for a united fatherland. They want it under Communist domination.

In Italy land reform agitation has brought several blood-letting riots. The Communists took quick advantage of the incidents to try and show they alone were friends of the Italian working and peasant classes. To date, however, their efforts do not appear to have seriously affected the country's recovery.

January 13 of three local men on charges that they stole a battery and five gallons of gasoline from a truck owned by the McGill Estate, Inc., on November 25.

The arrest of three men charged with the Woodstock post office burglary came the following week.

Vredenburg and Belmore said today that the arrest of two local men this week on morals charges was a direct result of the investigation which disclosed certain allegedly immoral conditions to be existing in the home of one of the men who had been arrested on a burglary charge earlier.

Checking on leads furnished through questioning of the persons arrested has led to the solution of the case over a dozen burglaries and many minor instances of illegal entry, Vredenburg said. Investigation is still continuing, and the sheriff's men said that other arrests will probably be made, including the arrest of two minors, one on a burglary charge and the other on a morals charge.

The entire list of reported burglaries will be released until the investigation is completed. Some, but not all, of the material reported stolen has been recovered, sheriff's men claimed.

He was arrested yesterday by order of Justice Bernard Botwin of the New York Supreme Court, who said Hebo ignored the court's order to produce the child. The charge was contempt of court, and Justice Botwin said Hebo will remain in jail until he arranges to have the child returned to the United States.

HOW MUCH WOULD IT COST TO REPLACE IT?

The average home owner today carries only 40% enough fire insurance. He's thinking backward to what his property cost, instead of forward to what it would cost to REPLACE IT.

Face the facts. Your home or place of business (and contents) may burn tonight. Is your fire insurance big enough to enable you to start to rebuild and return to normal tomorrow?

Quit kidding yourself that you won't have a fire or that you are fully protected. It's no fun to be half-ruined.
